Pub lost and post office on way out

By Oliver Evans

CROPREDY residents have been dealt another blow after its post office was put under threat and one of its two pubs closed.

Just a week after being told its most regular bus service was leaving, a desperate call has gone out to find a new owner for the post office in Williamscoth Road.

And mystery surrounds the closure of The Red Lion in Red Lion Street.

Sub-postmistress Camille Jokumsen is to step down for health reasons after running The Perfect Present gift shop for six-and-a-half years.

The shop incorporated the post office two years ago.

Her notice period to the Post Office expires on January 31 and she said the shop could close then if a buyer is not found, though she could extend her notice.

She said: "If we can't find a buyer then I can't see we have much choice."

A notice is now going to village homes from Cropredy Parish Council.

Post Office Ltd spokesman Alan Ridoutt said: "Customers can be assured that it remains our intention to keep a post office service in the area."

Stepping down:
Camille Jokumsen

It comes after Stagecoach announced last week it would withdraw its 200 route from the village to Banbury from December 10.

Former Red Lion landlords Adam and Karen Morris, who also run The Black Horse at Standlake, declined to comment on its closure.

A sign on the door says: "The Red Lion is closed until further notice. Sorry for any inconvenience." The Brasenose Arms is now the only pub in the village.

● Enterprise Inns has confirmed it has re-let the closed Dog and Gun pub in North Bar Street and said it would look to find a new tenant.

Hordes of soap fans queued up for hours to meet the actor.

North Oxfordshire Academy pupil Chelsea Lodge, 13, said: "We come every year and it's a great night out."

Lucy Donaldson, 15, from

Hardwick, said: "It was great meeting Jeff and he's a real contrast to his character on Emmerdale. He's a really nice guy."

Musical entertainment was provided by performers Neva Mynd, Little Miss Sixties and tribute act Abba Fever.

News in brief

THE funeral was held on Friday, November 25, of a 20-year-old woman who was killed in a car smash earlier this month. Mourners gathered at St Mary's Church in Horsefair for the funeral of Stacey Westwood. The former Banbury School pupil was a back seat passenger in a Vauxhall Astra being driven by 25-year-old Cullum Miles, who was also killed.

Wind mast opposed by hundreds

By Oliver Evans

RESIDENTS have hit out at plans for a 60-metre high wind-monitoring mast. Regenco wants to put up the mast for two years to gauge whether land to the north of Hanwell could be used as a wind farm.

Councillors will be asked to make a decision on the Bury Court Farm mast plan today and a planning officer recommended approval.

Some 427 letters and 57 emails have been sent to Cherwell District Council in opposition to the proposal.

They warn the mast is too close to homes and would have a "significant and detrimental effect" on a "distinctive and highly attractive rural landscape".

The firm could build five to eight wind turbines up to 130 metres high if the trial is successful.

Eight parish councils opposed the plan and there were three letters of support.

Hanwell Parish Council said it objected "very strongly" to the "alien and intrusive" structure.

Shotteswell Airfield said the mast and guy wires "would not be immediately visible to pilots", particularly in emergency landings.

But planning officers said while the mast would "cause some visual harm", this was outweighed by the benefits of the proposal.

They said national planning policy backed moves that could create renewable safety schemes and concerns over planes would be addressed if lights are put on the mast.

The plan will be considered by the council at Bodicote House at 4pm.

Contest to find taste of India

A CONTEST has been launched to find the best Indian dessert created by Oxfordshire catering students.

The winner will see their pudding take pride of place in the menu of new Indian restaurant The Spice Guru, set to open in Watlington this month.

Chef Muhammad Ali has teamed up with Oxford and Cherwell Valley College's catering programme to set the challenge for NVQ level 3 students at the college's Oxford and Banbury campuses.

Mr Ali said: "The main aim is to motivate the students and encourage upcoming young chefs. After we ran a UK Indian chefs competition this year, which was a huge success, we were thinking 'why not give a chance to up and coming chefs?'"

Yesterday students at the two campuses competed against each other, and an Oxford and Banbury winner will be cooking head-to-head in the final on Wednesday, December 7.

Programme manager Mark Roberts said: "I'm looking for soft, delicate spices coming through, something that's really going to work well as a part of a menu."

Celebrations to be a charity fundraiser

AN invitation to celebrate Christmas and raise funds for good causes has been issued by Banbury mayor Alastair Milne Home.

Money raised at a candlelit "Celebration of Christmas" evening at Banbury Town Hall on Saturday will go to the Royal British Legion and The Shires Royal British Legion Youth Band.

Tickets, costing £5, will include mulled wine and mince pies and an hour of entertainment. The programme has Christmas songs, music, traditional Christmas stories and readings, with a chance to sing Christmas carols accompanied by St Mary's and St Leonard's churches joint choir.

A fuzzy way to raise cash

By Debbie Waite

A FAMILY retailer has a personal reason for raising awareness of prostate cancer, as male staff from Buywise got hairy for charity.

Six members of staff at the electrical and furniture store Buywise Domestic Appliance Ltd in Parson's Street, Banbury, grew moustaches throughout November for the Movember campaign, which challenges men to grow facial hair to highlight prostate and testicular cancer.

Managing director Jo New, 39, said: "It was actually the idea of one of the guys here - Nick Good - but I jumped at the chance of getting involved because my dad Kevin, who is 65, is in remission from prostate cancer. A friend of ours from Birmingham sadly has terminal cancer, which started in his prostate.

"It is a great cause and we are all trying hard to grow as impressive moustaches as we can, while raising as much sponsorship as we can, but it hasn't been easy.

"I guess most of us are going for the long-sided Mexican look, which is pretty hilarious.

"But most of us are normally clean shaven and I would say we are more 'fluffy' than hairy at the moment!"

The men avoided their razors for the whole of November, before shaving off their moustaches today.

The organisers of the appeal hope that as well as raising funds for research into the cancers, more men will get tested for prostate cancer, which kills 10,000 men a year in the UK - as many men as breast cancer kills women.

Mr New said: "Our families are all really proud of us of course, but that doesn't mean they have to like the hair. My wife Lez is not in the least impressed by my gingery facial hair and my daughter Ella, two, is even refusing to kiss me goodnight!"

School club faces closure

A BEFORE and after school club that provides childcare to more than 100 children fears it will close after being told to leave its base.

The Dashwood Out of School Care Club, which launched in 1999, will leave Dashwood School by early April.

The school said it could no longer accommodate the club to comply with a demand from inspectors to change how it teaches pupils.

The club fears parents will be left without affordable childcare if the club shuts. Manager Dawn Cothier said chances of the club finding a suitable home it could afford were "very very slim".

By Oliver Evans

The club, which has 111 children and 65 families on its books, is charged £1,600-a-year rent by the school.

She said: "We work in an area where there are a lot of single parents and low-income parents.

"If prices go up, parents won't be able to manage.

"How are people going to be able to go to work? I have had parents say it would cost them a lot more money for children to go to childminders."

Venues such as village halls would not offer outdoor play and the "brash and vibrant" room at the school, which requested the club in the 1990s, she said.

The club takes about 28 children a day and charges £2.50 in the morning, £8.50 after school and £20.50 all day during holidays.

It makes £8,000 to £10,000 profit a year, she said.

But she said she accepted the club could not co-exist with the school to meet the demands from education inspectors Ofsted.

Executive headteacher Dr Fiona Hammans said the school had been told to provide a "more structured" environment for nursery children.

This means the school needs to make the room more like a classroom for lessons rather than play-based activities, she said.

She said: "If we had a choice we would not be doing this.

"But we can't run the risk of Ofsted coming in in three years' time and saying 'you have not done what we said, we are going to fail you'."

Dr Hammans said: "We don't want to lose the high quality provision the club provides for parents. We are trying to help it find alternative accommodation."

PCSO makes plea for support after arson at charity project

WITH little chance of finding the arsonists who burnt down a gardening project used by a mental health charity, PCSO Rob Bliss knew he had to act.

Using his contacts from the Banbury community, he rallied companies to donate a replacement summer house and gardening supplies.

Charity Restore said its users were devastated by the fire, which caused £800 of damage, as it had been helping with their recovery.

PCSO Bliss said the site's remote location at Spital Farm, off Thorpe Way and the night-time attack made investigations difficult.

He said a family member had received support from the Calthorpe Street charity, making him more determined to help.

The fire, which happened overnight on Monday, November 7, and Tuesday, November 8, destroyed the summer house and gardening equipment.

Hillier's Garden Centre replaced the summer house with an ex-display model worth £1,500 and donated £100 of gardening equipment.

Homebase gave hammers, screwdrivers, screws and trugs, Argos gave deckchairs and a barbecue and Brantano gave 12 pairs of wellies.

Restore's Katrina Horne said: "We are hugely thankful. These links in the community are really important."

News in brief

A TEENAGE boy has admitted raping a woman in her 70s after conning his way into her home by claiming he wanted to talk to her about the war. The 14-year-old, who cannot be named, appeared at Oxford Crown Court on Friday and entered a guilty plea to one count of rape. The boy raped the pensioner in Banbury on November 12. Judge Julian Hall told the defendant: "What you did was dreadful." The boy, who left the dock in tears, was remanded in secure accommodation to be sentenced on January 20.

Emily, who lives in the village of Alkerton, said: "When I went to receive the award at the ceremony it was really scary.

"They said they had never thought of having an award for children and next year they are going to create one for young people."

Emily looks after a flock of nine hens which lay five eggs a day in her garden. She then sells to friends and neighbours before and after classes at Sibford School in Sibford Ferris.

● Other prizewinners at the ceremony in the Mill Arts Centre, Banbury, included Angie Hill of JHS Solar Solutions, Banbury (Environmental Sustainability); Vivienne Cudahy, Auteur, Deddington (New Business); Michelle Sutton, Butterflies Healthcare, Banbury (Established Business); Alison McCormack, Brethertons, Banbury (Inspirational Woman within a Business) and Aneesa Verjee-Lorenz, Pharmaquest, Bloxham, (Inspirational Woman Business Owner).

Laughter that cuts to the bone

50/50 (15, 100 mins)

Laughter is the best medicine for a 20-something man coming to terms with a rare form of cancer in Jonathan Levine's heartfelt comedy.

Loosely based on the real-life experiences of screenwriter Will Reiser, who faced a cancer diagnosis aged 24 and underwent surgery to remove a tumour from his spine, 50/50 unearths moments of heartbreaking emotion amid the hilarious vulgarity.

The central character's frustrations and terror will resonate deeply with anyone who has battled this terrible disease or nursed a loved one through chemotherapy and treatment.

Levine's film treats the subject sensitively and candidly but doesn't wallow in self-pity.

As the patient's best friend helpfully proffers: "Young people beat cancer all the time... Lance Armstrong keeps getting it!"

Adam (Joseph Gordon-Levitt) works behind the scenes at Seattle Public Radio with best friend Kyle (Seth Rogen), who makes public his dislikes for Adam's artist girlfriend, Rachael (Bryce Dallas Howard).

A doctor's appointment to determine the reasons for Adam's acute back pain reveals the quietly spoken 27-year-old has a tumour that must be treated immediately.

His chances of survival are 50 per cent.

Rachael fails to offer emotional support so Kyle steps in, ferrying his pal to appointments where Adam meets fellow patients Alan (Philip Baker Hall) and Mitch (Matt Frewer).

Adam also encounters inexperienced psychologist Katherine McCay (Anna Kendrick), who has been assigned to help him.

Ever the joker, Kyle tries to lift Adam's spirits with a night on the town.

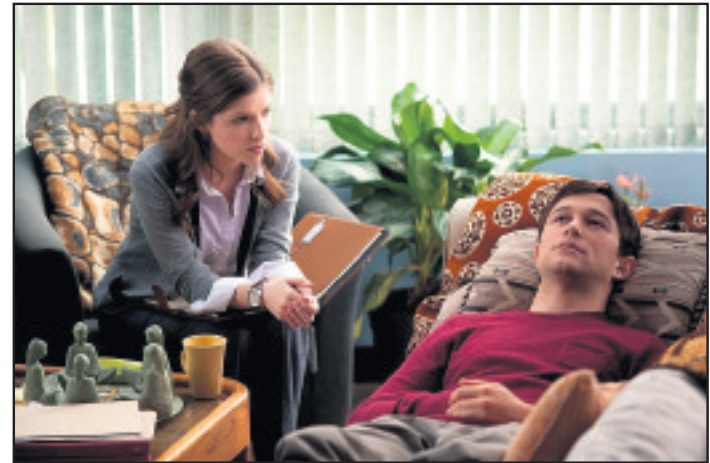

"No one wants to have sex with me - I look like Voldemort!" laments the patient.

There is also the matter of telling Adam's mother (Anjelica Huston), who has her hands full caring for a husband (Serge Houde) with Alzheimer's.

Buoyed by the support of the people he loves and a rescue greyhound called Skeletor, Adam weathers the onslaught on his body, determined to see his 28th birthday.

50/50 stylishly melds a buddy comedy and romance with Adam's battle against the disease, sidestepping mawkish sentiment to cut as close to the bone as possible.

Gordon-Levitt delivers a magnificent performance as a nice guy, who finds courage at his lowest ebb.

Rogen confidently pockets the big laughs but reveals his character's heart too and Kendrick continues her meteoric rise with a nuanced and warmly endearing turn as the medical professional, who has as much to learn as the people in her care.

Drink-driving women will be targeted during crackdown

WOMEN are being warned about drink driving as Christmas party season approaches.

Roads policing Inspector Colin Clark said those in their 30s, particularly women, would be the focus of this year's Christmas crackdown.

Insp Clark said: "We have been targeting certain age groups. We've seen a spike in drivers aged in their 30s and an increase in women who are prepared to drink and drive."

"Normally it's the young male driver who has been highlighted, but over the last year or so we've seen an increase among women."

Launching the annual operation against those motorists who flout the law, officers promised they would be out on the county's roads 24 hours a day to target lunchtime drinkers, those taking a risk on the way home from office Christmas parties and hungover drivers who are still over the legal limit the morning after the night before.

They will also be arresting and charging drivers on the road under the influence of drugs.

Peter Hindshaw, chairman of Oxfordshire Unlimited which campaigns on behalf of disabled people, was paralysed when a drink-driver crashed the car he was in.

He said: "I can look anybody in the face and say '46 years of paralysis I faced just because I got into a car driven by someone not fit to drive'."

"My mistake was I wasn't in a fit state to make a sensible decision, but I knew perfectly well he wasn't fit to drive."

Insp Clark, said: "There were 64 positive tests throughout December in Oxfordshire last year. These are people who are still prepared to get in their cars after drinking more than the legal limit. We did approximately 1,700 breath tests in the last Christmas campaign and people might think these figures are low, but that's 64 motorists who put themselves, other motorists and the public at risk."

In the city, traffic officers will be out with speed guns on main arterial routes including Botley Road, Woodstock Road and Banbury Road, as well as less obvious locations.

They will also be out and about throughout the county on the lookout for those drinking and driving in rural areas.

He said: "The main message is we want everybody who has a good evening to get home safely."

"The responsibility is with the driver not to drink or take drugs and drive, there's also a responsibility with the passenger not to get in a car with that person."

Since January 1, there have been 22 deaths on Oxfordshire's roads, eight of the victims aged between 17 and 24. In the same period, 60 17 to 24-year-olds have been seriously injured and 369 slightly hurt.

BANBURY United faced having to do it all again at Wealdstone's adopted Grosvenor Vale ground in Ruislip after Saturday's third qualifying-round clash ended in a goalless draw.

The hosts had the visitors under pressure early on, forcing four corners in succession.

Will Green's pace was causing Wealdstone's defence numerous problems and only a last-ditch tackle from Wes Parker prevented Green from putting United in front after a Simeon Williams pass put him clear.

In the 32nd minute Green went close again, but keeper Jonathan North, Parker and James Hammond, combined to thwart him.

Eight minutes from time, Green squared the ball back for Glenn Walker, but his hurried header went over.

Five minutes later, Britt Assombalonga hit the bar, but Banbury held on for a replay.

Banbury Utd: Kemp, Williams, Kinch, Dolman, Thackeray, Kingston, Coleman, Cole (Howell 85), Green, Woodley (Edmond 55), Walker. Subs not used: Polk, Stanbridge.

ARIES Mar 21-Apr 19 LIBRA Sep 23-Oct 22

You really don't seem to be bothered with the glitzy crowd. In fact your plans are likely to be for two and two alone. Whether or not the person concerned feels the same way is for you to find out. Clues to which you'll get this weekend. Give me a ring now to hear which sign holds the key to the promotions you crave.

You find yourself taking a little more care in your appearance. It is as if you have a sixth sense that something important is going to happen. Don't push an already delicate work situation midway; you don't know the whole story yet, but you will by the time this week is over. Phone now to hear why Virgos must be a priority.

TAURUS Apr 20-May 20 SCORPIO Oct 23-Nov 21

Try to be a little kinder with your words to a close one. You can't even begin to understand what they have been going through. Think of how much they will respect you for helping them to overcome worries. By making the first step this week you can achieve more than you have all year with your close ones. Phone now for a message from Venus.

Many of your sign are toying with a change of appearance. Just make sure though that you and not others are the reason behind this new image you are seeking. Secrets that emerge can be the very answer you have been looking for in romance. Meetings you plan for Friday can put an end to a longstanding worry. Phone now for the finer details.

There are so many better ways for you to tell a loved one how you are feeling. This rebellious behaviour is so out of character and is making those around you think you are plain crazy rather than just discontented. You know your life is in need of some changes and this is the week to make them. Call now to hear who's feeding you lies.

Your house of work is feeding your appetite for success. You have the energy this week to complete more than you usually do all month. Make sure that you take full advantage. This is a great time to turn your dreams into a reality. Beware of false promises coming from past contacts. Call now to hear who your true allies are.

CANCER Jun 21-Jul 22 CAPRICORN Dec 22-Jan 19

There is an area of your life which is quite plainly no longer working and it is time that you did something about it. By staying silent in this way you are only making all parties involved dreadfully unhappy. Better options lie before you and this is the week you start to see all that is possible for you in your life. Call now for your love scope.

I know you may not be able to choose your family, but you can choose how you allow them to affect you. You've been a victim of emotional blackmail and it's time to start setting higher standards for yourself. There comes a time in your life when you have to take a stand and this is one of those times. Ring now for a romantic revelation.

LEO Jul 23-Aug 22 AQUARIUS Jan 20-Feb 18

You should find it very easy to get through your work this week. In fact I would not be surprised if you manage to complete twice as much as you usually do. Don't get upset with a personal matter that a close one is being stubborn about. They could just be in the right, as you'll discover if you listen and don't just talk. Phone now for focus.

You're about to be faced with the opportunity to earn some decent money for a change. Use Tuesday and Wednesday to do some sums. The stars are handing you the gift of clear thinking and clarity then, so use your time well. Give me a call now to hear why impromptu invites promise love.

VIRGO Aug 23-Sep 22 PISCES Feb 19-Mar 20

No matter how well thought out your words are, you are going to find it very hard to get those around you to give you any support or agreement in your ideas. You may be better therefore to use your time to plan and not act. You've been spending all of your time on others problems instead of your own. Call me for clear vision.

Don't push a close one for a change you know they are not ready to make. Bide your time and work on showing them that you respect them as an individual before you start trying to pressure them into your way of thinking and doing things. Romance requires a white lie midweek. Call now to hear why this is such a passionate month.

Support Through The Festive Season And Beyond

Christmas is supposed to be a time when family, friends, and loved ones gather to spread cheer, goodwill, and peace on earth. Yet the effort in spreading all this good will and cheer about is stressful for many people.

As the festive season approaches we all start thinking about the presents, the excitement, the costs, the expectations and the family. The stress this can create can be too much for some people. It promises to be a busy time ahead and if you are in need of additional help in coping with the pressures of life, there is a local company that can help.

Christmas and New Year can evoke many different emotions in all of us, for a variety of different reasons. Perhaps memories of loved ones who are far away or who have passed, financial problems, relationship worries or loneliness. The enforced intimacy of Christmas, coupled with the start of a new year is known to be a major cause of stress and anxiety. Many people just need a supportive ear, but for those needing more, the team at IN TOUCH in Banbury are waiting to help guide you back to a stronger and more content you.

The therapists at IN TOUCH use specialist counselling and psychotherapeutic techniques to help people get through difficult periods in their lives. They believe everyone has the ability to heal themselves, but may be unable to understand the whole issue and how to move forward. Their aim is to facilitate a better understanding of why you are feeling the way you do and how you can better cope. Our counsellors will help you to reflect on how you respond to events and deal with relationships in your life. The therapeutic relationship with your counsellor will provide a safe place in which you can explore your thoughts, feelings and beliefs, feelings that you may find difficult to share with those close to you. Our aim is not to provide advice or guidance but to help you start to find your own path and make your own choices moving forward.

Make 2012 The Year You Improve Your Life

But, that's not all the team at IN TOUCH offer. Christmas can also cause anxiety to those whose relationship with food is not as balanced as it should be. For this, the team offer clinical hypnotherapy to change the way you think about food, removing the need to eat emotionally and most importantly, to improve the way you feel about yourself now and into the future.

The HypnoGastricBand®, is a revolutionary new concept engulfing the weight loss world. It is a step by step process that will bring you the weight loss you so desire at a huge discount to gastric band surgery. The mind band can give you the same results as a real gastric band but last forever. The only thing you have to lose is weight! The surgery involved with a gastric band is not always an option for some people, so the HypnoGastricBand® offers a way to gain the same results but without the risk & astronomical cost.

IN TOUCH therapists will guide and prepare you for this new chapter of your life. Powerful hypnoanalysis releases any negative emotion and builds your morale and confidence. It is important to address the psychological issues behind weight problems because you want this to be a long term resolution. When you are ready a consultation will lead to the surgery and following this more therapy is available, if required, to keep you positive and on the right track to a brand new you.

This could be a great plan for the New Year. It is funny that most of us set ourselves New Year resolutions, but by the end of January they are often forgotten. Well, if your New Year Resolution involves making changes to improve your life, take the first step to making it a permanent change and speak with the team at IN TOUCH.

For a limited time only, IN TOUCH are offering £50 off all HypnoGastricBands (making the course of treatment £250) and counselling at only £30 per hour for the first 5 sessions (a total saving of £40). Please mention this offer when booking.

If you want a new you in the New Year, don't assume you have to accomplish it by yourself. You can find out more about the support IN TOUCH offers by visiting their website www.intouch-therapy.org.uk or calling the team on 07903 202740.

Physiotherapists prepare For Rise In Winter related Injuries

time of year increases, yet in many cases these injuries could have been prevented with a little forward planning. With this foresight most of us will be able to enjoy the weather injury free. However, should you suffer an injury, get expert medical attention as quickly as possible, seek a second opinion if needed and do not stray from your doctors or physiotherapists recommended treatment regime. Ignoring medical advice will only increase your pain, suffering and recovery time."

Jessica Lacey, Physiotherapist at BMI The Foscote Hospital, gives the following tips on how to avoid injury during the recent cold snap:

- 1) Wear sensible shoes that have a rubber sole and good grip. If it is particularly icy you can buy specialist shoe chains that fit on to any shoe and provide additional grip even on ice.
- 2) Avoid the temptation to walk with your hands in your pockets. You need your arms to restore balance and protect yourself if you do slip.

- 3) Focus all your attention on walking and remember that there is no rush, take your time and reduce your stride to increase your stability.
- 4) Walk on the pavement whenever possible. If there is no pavement only use the road if the street is clear and you have no other choice. Remember to walk against the flow of traffic as most road traffic accidents during this time come from cars slipping and sliding on the ice.
- 5) Layer clothing to keep yourself and your muscles warm and flexible.
- 6) If you have to dig your car out of the drive, warm up before hand. When you are shovelling push rather than lift the snow out of the way and always remember to bend your knees to let the muscles of your legs and arms do the work.
- 7) If forced to use the steps at someone's home or other public facility, walk slow and take shorter steps when descending. The same is true of driveways and other hilly terrains, as these areas can be very dangerous when they become slippery with ice or snow.
- 8) P.R.I.C.E for injury - If you are unlucky enough to sustain an injury, immediately follow the P.R.I.C.E principles:

Protection - use strapping or a support for comfort and to protect the area

Rest - rest the injured area

Ice - apply ice packs, wrapped in a towel, for 10 minutes every hour

Compress - use tubigrip or a compression bandage to help reduce the swelling - but not too tight! Check toes and fingers regularly for colour and temperature; remove the compression dressing at night.

Elevate - elevate or raise the injured part.

Lose Inches In Hours

Tests by the University of Westminster have shown that measurable and sustained inch loss can be achieved with the Universal Contour Wrap® treatment, voted no1 in a recent survey to drop a dress size by Fabulous magazine.

This Christmas you may be looking to lose a few extra inches for that special occasion and you could always try the latest diet, but what if you could be guaranteed to lose 6" in just 2 hours? Gymophobics in Banbury are now offering this revolutionary treatment, that promises to not only help you lose the inches, but also keep them off for up to 30 days.

The female only gym recognises the need for women to feel good about themselves and in addition to the beauty treatments available Simone Watts, beautician, now offers the Universal Contour Wrap® treatment.

Before your treatment begins you are measured in many of the areas you will put on weight, including the stomach, thighs, waist, upper arms and even your neck. These measurements will prove this treatment really works.

The treatment consists of bandages soaked in a unique clay solution containing a number of healing, skin tightening and conditioning properties. The bandages are wrapped around your body in a specific way to help nip, tuck and lift all those parts of the body you would like to see in better condition.

Once you are fully wrapped the therapist helps you inside the silver suit that keeps you warm as the clay and bandages cool down. Now you can just sit back and relax whilst the bandages and unique solution help to tone and sculpt your body.

Once complete your are unwrapped, leaving your skin smooth, with a deep cleansed feeling. The measurements are now taken for a second time to show where and how many inches have been lost. The average person loses between 10 and 14 inches!

Unlike other inch loss treatments Universal Contour Wrap® Classic doesn't rely on dehydration to get results. In fact to maximise your personal results you're encouraged to drink plenty of water after treatments to continue the inch loss, detox and cleansing process.

Other aftercare advice does help maintain the effects of the wrap and should be followed to help keep the inches off.

To book your treatment speak to Tracey or Simone on 01295 255532 at Gymophobics on Bridge Street in Banbury.

Christmas Shopping In Middleton Cheney

Just on the outskirts of Banbury lies the village of Middleton Cheney – and if you thought you were limited to the town centre for shopping, think again!

There are plenty of local businesses that know how to make Christmas feel special for you and your loved ones – and they offer a number of specialised products and services that might be hard to find elsewhere.

If you are looking for gift options you have to visit Urban Angelz on the High Street. The store is full of beads and jewels, creative inspiration, crystals and so much more. For knitting and crochet enthusiasts there are many accessories to keep you entertained through the winter months and the accessory range in store is a girlie dream – so finding something for the woman in your life won't be difficult at Urban Angelz.

For gifts with a difference, Banbury Face Clinic offer gift vouchers for a number of surgical and non-surgical procedures. The experienced and friendly team at the clinic can help restore signs of aging and help build confidence for clients of any age or gender. For those looking for something a little more relaxing, they also offer a fabulous range of holistic therapies so you can really spoil the ones you love this Christmas. Or more information visit their website www.banburyfaceclinic.com

Bring your home to life this festive season with an array of beautifully crafted floral arrangements and wreaths for Dawns Flowers. Their range of poinsettias are fabulous and if you are looking for something special or specific they can design table decorations, bouquets, candlestick arrangements and more from their shop just outside the village. Orders can be made over the phone on 01295 711288

Butterfly Healthcare specialise in optics. The company started by providing vitamins, minerals and cosmetics for those with complex eye issues or sensitivity. They now stock a range of optical products including prescription diving goggles – making the life of a keen diver even easier. Butterfly can help make vision perfect when discovering the ocean's hidden creatures. Their make up range also offers an alternative to the traditional brands that are not designed for sensitive eyes or made with natural ingredients.

And whilst enjoying the shops Middleton Cheney has to offer, why not call in for lunch or an evening meal at the George and Dragon, Chacombe. This traditional country pub is minutes up the road and their menu will tempt you to return time after time. It has a great warm and inviting feel about it and for those looking for somewhere to meet friends and family over the festive period, their Christmas menu has something for everyone.

Don't claim to have finished your Christmas Shopping already – you haven't finished shopping until you have visited Middleton Cheney!

Stuck For Gift Ideas This Christmas?

If you are already stuck for ideas of what to buy loved ones and great friends this year, there is a shop in the heart of Banbury that has something to suit everyone's taste. It is the "one stop shop" for gifts and ideas this Christmas.

Fifth Corner on Church Lane in Banbury is the biggest independent gift shop in the town. The extensive stock they have helped make shopping in Banbury a unique experience that many other stores are unable to offer.

You will find gifts ranging from fun stocking fillers to grand romantic gestures and cosmetics to stuffed teddies for children. There are gifts for girls, gifts for boys and even gifts for your home. In fact, their range of Christmas decorations must be seen.

The team at Fifth Corner are proud to offer an ever rotating stock – so there is always something new to discover in the shop and always an extensive range of the latest gifts on the shelves.

For those looking for home furnishings before Christmas or solid wood furniture to make the most of your living space, Fifth Corner has so much to offer.

A personal service and good value for money remains a high priority for the shop, which is family owned and has been in the centre of Banbury for over 15 years.

As the festive season starts and thoughts turn to what to buy for your friends and family, Fifth Corner promises to take the hard work out of finding something special – they have everything you could possibly need. So before looking anywhere else, pop into the local store that offers so much more. You won't be disappointed.

You can find Fifth Corner on Church Lane. For more information call the shop on 01295 266531.

Astra estate sports sleek new styling

There is normally just one reason for opting to buy an estate car — space. Vauxhall has come up with another one — style.

The sleek Astra Sports Tourer certainly offers a much greater ability to swallow up everything a family could reasonably throw at it. But, just as important, it does it while looking even better than the hatchback on which it is based.

With prices starting at more than £16,000, this is no cut-price entry into the compact estate market. So what do you get for your money?

First, as you would expect, it comes with a decent level of equipment. All models in the range are equipped with an electronic stability programme, six airbags, air-conditioning, an electronic parking brake, daytime running lights, front electric windows, a CD/radio with connections for MP3 players, central locking and electric/heated mirrors.

But it is the cleverly-packaged loadspace that is the main attraction. The maximum load length has been increased by 28mm over its predecessor to 1.8m, and its load volume is up by 30 litres to 500 litres with the rear seats up.

By David Duffy

All those statistics boil down to a thoroughly useful, easy-to-load, versatile vehicle that proves perfect for moving large, long, wide or awkwardly shaped objects. So a large IKEA table and wardrobe slipped in the back without fuss.

The cargo area has flat wall linings and the upmarket test model came with a new FlexFold feature that allows each section of the 60:40 split-fold rear seatbacks to be lowered at the press of a button housed in the walls of the cargo compartment.

In addition, with the rear seat cushions folded up against the front seatbacks the Sports Tourer has a completely flat load floor.

The whole area is covered by a two-touch luggage compartment cover, which slides upwards and out of the way with a simple tap to load or remove smaller items.

But for larger loads the cover retracts completely into a cassette, coming to a soft stop. When not needed, the complete assembly can be removed and stored below the load floor of the cargo space.

On top of that, there is also half as much storage space again dotted around the cabin as in the current Astra estate.

All this thoroughly worthy practicality is wrapped inside a surprisingly classy exterior, and despite its increased load-lugging ability the tourer rides as comfortably, and handles as sharply, as the five-door hatch.

Latest motoring news in brief

■ The new 2012 Honda Civic will be on show for one night only in an exclusive customer preview evening taking place at Johnsons Honda, at the Oxford Motor Park, Kidlington, on Thursday, December 8. Customers attending will take a journey through the ages of Civic, and be taken back in time with sweets and treats from a bygone age. The walk-round presentation of the new Civic, which goes on sale next year, will take place three times through the evening, with doors opening for three hours from 5pm. People are advised to contact Johnsons Honda on 01865 290999 to secure a place in one of the three evening sessions (5-6pm, 6-7pm or 7-8pm). Spaces will be limited.

■ After two consecutive bad winters, the awareness of winter tyres has greatly increased in the UK, and the Guild of Experienced Motorists is warning motorists that while winter tyres offer a number of benefits in low temperatures, they should not be confused with snow tyres.

GEM chief executive, David Williams, said: "Winter tyres are most efficient in temperatures below 8C when the rubber and silicon compounds in normal tyres are affected. In such temperatures, winter tyres will significantly reduce stopping distances and offer more feedback. However, when slush, ice and snow are on the roads, motorists must remain as cautious as ever."
